Eucalyptus oil /Eucalyptol

🌿 Eucalyptus Globulus, Labill.

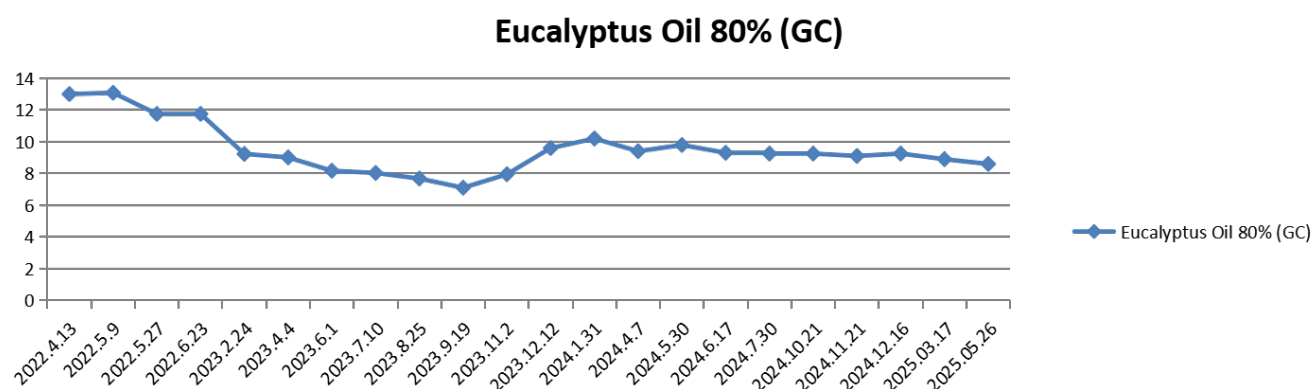

CAS NO : 8000-48-4

📍 Yunnan

FEMA : 2466

Eucalyptus oil is currently out of season. Farmers and collectors still have some stocks. However, due to the decline of output, the situation of failing to collect oil is relatively common. This has led some oil suppliers to adopt a strategy of holding back supplies, waiting for the market price to rise further before considering to sell.

Geranium oil

 Pelargonium graveolens Lherit

 Yunnan

CAS NO : 8000-46-2

FEMA : 2508

Geranium oil is currently in the season, but as the fruits harvest season approaches, farmers are busy in selling other products. This has led to relatively low market attention for Geranium oil. The output has also decreased, and the trading volume in the market each week is not large. Farmers still have old stock in inventory, which can basically continue to supply the market. However, prices fluctuate significantly, showing varying levels.

Citronella oil

 Cymbopogon Winterianus JowittCas  Yunnan

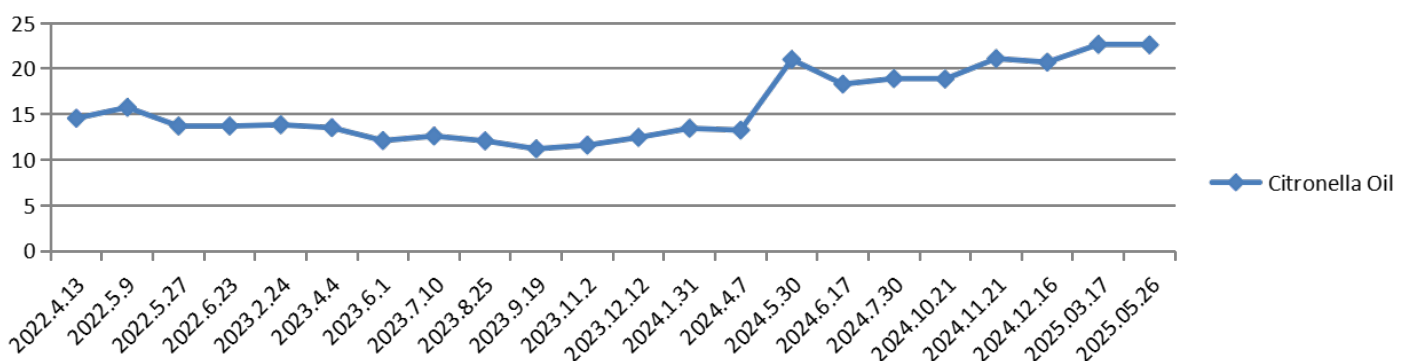

CAS NO : 8000-29-1

FEMA : 2308

The output of citronella oil gradually increases after the harvest season, but it is still at a relatively low level at present. The main reason is the price factor. Last year, the price of citronella oil was relatively high, which improved the oil farmers' anticipations, so they still expect a high price. This price fluctuation not only affected the planting enthusiasm of the oil farmers, but also had a significant impact on the overall market supply and price system of citronella oil.

Citronella Oil

Star anise oil /Anethol

STAR ANISE OIL

Yunnan

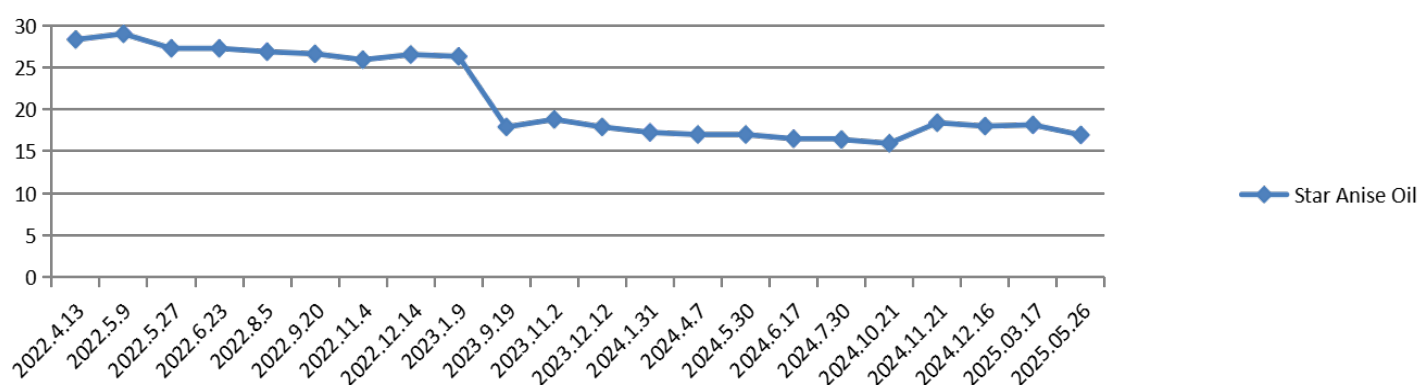

CAS NO : 8007-70-3

FEMA : 2096

Currently, the market situation of Star anise oil is relatively stable. The response from the demand side is not particularly strong, so the price has slightly dropped. On the farmers side, since it is not the peak season for selling at present, there will not be a large volume of selling. Only when farmers are in urgent needs of funds will they be likely to make large-scale selling. Therefore, the current marketing strategy should be to conduct transactions with farmers in small quantities on a regular basis, in order to ensure a balance of a stable prices between supply and demand.

Star Anise Oil

Litsea cubeba oil/Citral

 Litsea Cubeba(Lour.)

CAS NO : 68855-99-2

 Yunnan

FEMA : 3846

Litsea Cubeba oil will enter a period of large-scale production next month. Currently, the market is in a stage of waiting and observing. This year, the climate in harvest areas has been extremely hot, resulting in a significant increase in the output of the Litsea cubeba fruits. Farmers generally expect this year's output to be higher than that of the previous years. However, despite the increase in output, the price has failed to rise significantly for a long time. This has caused farmers to worry that, as new products come into the market, prices may not reach the expected levels, thereby affecting their income. At present, no one can estimate an accurate price for the new crop.

Litsea Cubeba Oil

Wintergreen oil

 Gaultheria Procumbens

 Yunnan

CAS NO : 8000-28-6

Recently, the oil farmers have basically stopped their distillations. Wintergreen oil has been relatively stable for the past year, and both supply and demand can be met.
